An educational partnership agreement between the World Small Animal Veterinary Association and Timeless Veterinary Systems Inc will provide WSAVA members with affordable access to a "groundbreaking new drug formulary mobile app".

Available for both Apple and Android, the Timeless Vet Drug Index is a strictly evidence-based drug resource that offers practicing veterinarians "a convenient quality drug resource to empower their decisions".

The formulary was authored by Etienne Côté (clinical veterinary advisor), Stephen Ettinger (Textbook of Veterinary Internal Medicine) and Wayne Schwark (Emeritus professor of pharmacology, Cornell University).

Dr Côté explained: "We wanted to have access to information that flows in a way that would be really fast and practical for a hectic day in the hospital. We worked hard to make it something that our friends and colleagues would like to use, and we tried to build in the things that we wanted or wished for but we couldn't find in any other resource."

As a result of the education partnership – which will be officially signed in September at the 39th WSAVA Congress in Cape Town, South Africa – association members will have access to the new drug formulary at a significant discount.

WSAVA honorary secretary Siraya Chunekamrai said: "Providing our members with affordable access to tools is an effective way to support them so we welcome this new educational partnership with Timeless Veterinary Systems."

WSAVA members can access their discounted subscription to the Timeless Vet Drug Index by visiting the Education Partnership section of the WSAVA website.
